

PleezMee IT Master co-founder – job description

About PleezMee

Every day of our life, we come across ideas of things we would love to buy or experience but often, we're busy doing something else, it's not the right moment, we don't have the money ... and we let the idea fly!

Also, when we need to make a present, it's always a struggle to find the right thing for the right person...

This is what PleezMee is about!

PleezMee is an App that helps users remember the things they love, know how to please their loved ones and act on time to achieve their Pleez projects.

PleezMee helps corporates find out what their customers love, develop inspirational targeted communication and generate leads based on what customers love.

PleezMee will operate through a Mobile App and a WEB platform to be developed and launched in Q2/Q3 2017.

The team is building up and we are looking for a an IT Master to join the two co-founders!

Why joining PleezMee ?

As IT specialist, you probably have many options open to you, so why choose PleezMee before any other opportunity?

Well, to start with, we are small but have great ambition! PleezMee wants to become the global on-line reference for user centric personal shopping (meaning the customer decides what's in the shop).

We have already conducted intensive market research and we have validated the value proposition with both users and corporates, and we have first customers in sight. It's now (just) a question of execution!

YOU

What we are looking for is a mindset more than determined technical skills.

Besides your technical background, you're a natural born entrepreneur, an experienced project and team manager, a problem solver, a hands-on person, and if you don't master all the technologies used in the development of PleezMee, that's not a problem because you're eager to learn.

What is included in the scope technically speaking?

Mobile and web development, big data analysis, DB management, integrating external services (image recognition, natural language analysis, CRM, marketing automation, payment systems, chatbots, ...)

Oh, and last but not least, you're fun !!! Let's face it, if we're gonna work tons of hours together, you better be ;)

Feel like this is your next challenge? Please contact vanessa.davin@pleezmee.com